

Why do you want to teach here?

Top 3 answers

1. I have spent a lot of time researching about schools in this district. Everything considered, I found your institution to be the most modern, high quality secondary school, with great reputation. I talked to some parents, people I know personally, and they told me mostly good things about your school, and about the teachers you have onboard. I would be proud to become a member of your team, and help you to continue grow and progress as an educational institution.
2. The exact role you offer was the deciding factor for me. I want to work as a Science teacher, and at a high school level, because I feel that such a role is a really good match for both my strengths and preferences. You are the only school in the city advertising this position at the moment. Sure enough, each place of work has some pluses and minuses. Teaching anywhere we face challenges, and you won't find a perfect collective at any school. Some conflicts and problems will always exist. We are people after all, not robots. For this reason, I have decided mostly based on the exact role I wanted to get.
3. I got a recommendation from Maddie, my friend and someone I respect a lot. She's been teaching at your place for two years already, knows the people and the management philosophy, as well as opportunities to grow professionally here. When she told me you have a position open for an English teacher and that I should apply, I did not hesitate for a second. Of course, I did also my own research afterwards. But the more I was reading about your educational institution, the more I felt it was the right place for me. Let's hope you will give me a chance to prove this in the classes

Source, 7 sample answers & more: <https://teacher-interviewquestions.com/why-do-you-want-to-teach-at-our-institution-and-not-somewhere-else/>